

Hunting

HUNTING is on the increase as an outdoor sport. More than 6,000,000 Americans seek prey with a gun, yearly, says the Department of Agriculture.

The department attributes the hunting craze to "the growing congestion of population and the unrest which such massing produces." It adds that the hunters "develop their resourcefulness and maintain a physical and mental health which is of the utmost value in relation to their civic usefulness."

That's open to argument.

That 6,000,000 Americans use shotgun and rifle shows that man has a long way to go before he gets the killing instinct out of his blood. Disarmament is not going to be easy to attain.

Man is the only animal that kills for the sheer joy of killing.

Shattered

THE real tragedy of the Fatty Arbuckle case is that another idol and ideal of kiddie-land has been shattered.

Children had put Arbuckle on a pedestal as a king of clean fun-making. It puzzles them, how Fatty can be in jail.

Youth forms its ideals from youth's heroes. Ideals are shattered with the wreck of a movie hero, as surely as the Black Sox left a hole in the heart of every American boy-lover of clean sport.

Tragedy

MARIE ZUMBACK, raised in a Joliet basement prison where her mother had kept her, for 17 years never saw daylight or breathed fresh air. When humane officers found her, she had the mind and body of a child of six.

Nothing can be done with Marie, says the best of medical science after months of labor. Dr. Sigmund Krumholz pronounces the case hopeless, and says Marie must end her days in the condition she was found.

That shows the power and importance of good environment in youth. What happens to the sapling determines the tree.

Germany

GERMANY is the only important country where we are steadily increasing our export business. An instance, in the first seven months of this year we shipped Germany 832,281 bales of cotton against 238,383 bales in corresponding months of 1920.

It's another indication that Germany rapidly is getting back on its feet.

Karnebeek

YOU recall when the allies demanded that Holland hand over the ex-kaizer for trial. But Bill's still sawing wood on safe territory because Jonker H. A. Van Karnebeek, Dutch foreign minister, refused to deport him.

Dutch law guaranteed asylum to Bill. That's all Karnebeek cared about, that it took nerve for a small country to turn down the powerful coalition of allies.

Now Karnebeek has been elected president of the League of Nations assembly. It's a good thing to have a respecter of law on that job. The world still appears to honor a man who has the courage of his convictions.

Winter

A BLIZZARD and 14 inches of snow are reported from Moose Lake, Canada. Trappers and settlers say that a very severe winter is coming. Animals are growing fat. Trees have thicker bark. Pigeons lay in big supplies of nuts. Salmon trout will spawn early, forcing early freezing-over of lakes.

What is it that makes animals and vegetable life know whether winter will be severe or mild? If humans had that sixth sense, they'd be called oracles. Or does it prove that there is nothing but a chemical machine?

Change

MANUEL ESTRADA CABRERA, for 22 years president of Guatemala, in Central America, is convicted of murder and sentenced to death.

That couldn't have happened a few decades ago, when Central America was so corrupt that a man's influence could bribe himself out of any predicament. Now of human life down there has changed. Takes time, but the law comes all parts of the world.

Slums

HEALTHIEST place in New York City is the "lower east side" of the city. This is shown by death records.

Does this overthrow theories about disease breeding disease? It does.

The extraordinary showing of an official report, is due to the progress of the foreign-born to follow of health instructions.

Health, like accidents, is largely a matter of caution.

Who is responsible—the boy-driver or the person that let the child into the car?

ARMY CHIEF DIES TO SAVE HIS SOLDIERS

HEADQUARTERS TURKISH NATIONALIST ARMY — (By Associated Press) — Nazim Bey, with his Fourth Division, lost his life and saved the main body of General Ismet Pasha's forces from being taken in the rear and possibly routed during the frontal attack made with superior forces and equipment by the Greeks in Kuthia zone.

In recognition of his services, General Ismet Pasha published a note to the army stating that in his entire military career, including also his knowledge of military history, he knew of no finer example of heroism and intelligent valor. He also paid high tribute to the remnants of Colonel Nazim's division remaining after standing for two days against three Greek divisions, any one of which was stated to be superior in numbers to that of Nazim.

The Greek had planned, in addition to the frontal attack on Kuthia, a surprise raid on the Turkish rear with three flying divisions, and the surprise appears to have been complete.

So soon as their presence in force was discovered Nazim Bey was detached from the main army to stop them, or halt their progress until the retreat from Kuthia could be effected. He did so, and during these 48 hours of constant fighting and retreating, he was wounded by a rifle bullet but kept on his horse until struck by a second bullet, toward the end of the fight. He died but with the knowledge that he had saved the main body of the army.

"Kismet" (his fate) were his last words.

TITLE SUPPRESSED

Colonel Nazim Bey was a short, thin man of 45 years, quiet and gentlemanly in his deportment, speaking but rarely, with a large head and thoughtful, melancholy grey eyes. A soldier by profession, he served during the general war on several of the fronts, but mostly on the Russian front. He would have borne the title of general as division commander under the old imperial army but the Nationalists have suppressed that title except for officers commanding more than an army corps.

Ample facilities for the meet have been arranged at the commercial aviation field close to this city. This field is also used as headquarters for the National Guard aviation unit of the Fifth Army Corps Area.

PROSPECTS BRIGHTEN IN IRISH SITUATION

GAIRLOCH, Scotland — The receipt by Premier Lloyd George of Eamon De Valera's telegram of yesterday, in which the Irish leader expressed the view that the peace negotiators should meet untrammelled by any conditions "except those imposed by the facts as they know them," is considered to have brought about a change in the situation.

It has opened up the possibility that the prime minister may reply to this communication before consulting his cabinet colleagues, as he had announced his intention of doing before taking any further steps in connection with Irish affairs. Mr. Lloyd George passed a good night at his vacation home here and was very much better this morning.

"FRIEND OF GOVERNOR" IS NABBED HERE

Jesse H. Carter, 21, Cleveland, a student at Ohio State, who claims to be a friend of Governor Harry Davis, was held to the grand jury Saturday by Judge Emmett Jackson, in criminal court, in $500 bond. Carter was arrested at the Argonne Hotel at midnight Friday, charged with carrying concealed weapons.

Police Captain M. F. Dawson, who made the arrest, was called to the hotel after Carter had been flourishing a pistol, police stated. He first claimed to be a fiction writer and later stated he was a secret service man.

Carter was arraigned Saturday before Judge Jackson and asked his attorney to call up Governor Davis.

"I live only a block from Harry L. Davis' home," Carter told the court.

"That doesn't mean anything to me," remarked Judge Jackson.

Carter will be turned over to Sheriff Baxter late Saturday.

BOLD HOLDUP IS STAGED AT CINCINNATI

CINCINNATI — (By Associated Press) — United States prohibition officers and Cincinnati detectives were trying to find a clue today to 390 barrels of whisky that was stolen late last night from a bonded warehouse in the west end of the city by five armed men.

Directed by a man who had on formal evening dress, the four other robbers forced William McGarry and John Cosgrove, watchmen, into the office, cut the telephone wires and then proceeded to roll out the barrels. "Don't worry. All we want is the whisky," the leader of the band told McGarry.

When a large truck was loaded, the man thanked the watchmen for their patience. "We'll come back again some time," he said.

Then he and two others drove away in a touring car, the others driving the truck.

The 30 barrels are valued, at bootlegging prices, at about a thousand dollars a barrel.

NOT GUILTY

SCOTLAND YARD detectives expose an unusual case of an innocent person being found guilty and sentenced to pay the penalty for a crime committed by another.

The case involved an English woman, Mrs. Rose Emma Gooding. Mrs. Gooding was arrested on the charge of sending criminally libelous letters to a neighbor. The jury found her guilty. She had been in prison two months awaiting trial, so the judge let her off with 10 days.

That was last December. In March, Mrs. Gooding again was arrested, charged with the same offense. Again she was convicted and sent to jail, this time for a year, the trial judge commenting that the previous light sentence evidently had not been appreciated.

But the libelous letters kept coming, tho Mrs. Gooding was in a cell. Scotland Yard took the trail. The investigation caused the court of criminal appeal to release Mrs. Gooding, saying:

"This woman is perfectly innocent of the offenses of which she has been accused."
Yet she had had "a fair trial."

THE Gooding case in England, and occasional similar cases nearer home, make you wonder if our system of taking evidence in criminal charges has a fatal flaw. Also, whether many innocents are railroaded to prison.

Justice sometimes makes mistakes. To err is human. The brain of man has not yet developed to the point where it can devise a mistake-proof system for justice or anything else. But—

Miscarriages of justice are in the minority. They are exceptions. For one thing, ours is a great improvement over the Napoleonic criminal code, still in operation in Quebec, by which the accused is assumed guilty until he proves his innocence.

IT isn't many hundred years since trial was conducted by ordeal. The accused was supposed to be guilty unless he could pick up a handful of red-hot coals without burning the fingers. In place of testimony under oath, he had to plunge his arm into boiling water as proof of his sincerity.

Thieves were proclaimed guilty if they choked when trying to swallow dry barley bread and cheese in court.

Justice then was based on witchcraft-superstition.

We have, at least, developed to the point where trials are conducted by processes of reasoning and fact. The emotional appeal in court is slowly dying out, tho it clings tenaciously.

There's a long way to go before justice will be infallible. But if you get into court now, as an accused, you have 1000 times the chances your ancestors had in the days of armor and witchcraft.

Worst obstacle to the attainment of absolute justice is human stupidity, manifested in many juries. That is an element that will be difficult of solution.

GETTING BACK TO RELIGION

EQUALLY surprising and encouraging is the news that the theological schools of America are receiving more applications for admission this fall than had been expected. In fact, some have more than they can accept.

This in the face of the fact that little has happened recently to enhance the ministry as a lure to ambitious youth. In spite of changes that came during the war, ministers for the most part are still woefully underpaid. The hearts of the multitude have not been sufficiently humbled by adversity to give large increase of recognition to its claims of moral authority.

However, young men are once more hastening to prepare for this profession. This is accepted to mean that the call of the world, the flesh and devil is yielding, as it always does in times of stress, to the call of the spirit.

This sad old world offers opportunities for high service to young men who can brave its perils and effectually point the path to better things. Perhaps among the many who are now preparing to study for the ministry there are only a few who will ripen into wise teachers and great exemplars of religion, but the gain to the world will be great.

THOMAS' GOOD JUDGMENT

SYLVESTER Brown, Youngstown negro, was electrocuted in the Ohio penitentiary recently for the murder of Patrolman Alexander Warren in the Mahoning-co city. He confessed the crime and there was no miscarriage of justice.

This execution, in its essential details, was no different from many others that have occurred within the grim walls of the Ohio penitentiary where the law exacts "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth," save that the prospect of a woman, the wife of the doomed man, being present at the legal taking of the life of the murderer, was not realized.

Mrs. Brown had requested that she be permitted to witness the execution of her husband, but it was denied by Warden P. E. Thomas, who pointed to the fact that since 1897 there has been in strict effect a rule against allowing women to witness electrocutions.

Warden Thomas is to be commended for refusing to break the rule.

She had got tired of waiting for him to come back after her and had swum to the opposite shore and gone home, and she hadn't spoken to him since.

Mrs. Williams Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Kept Her in Health

Overpeck, O.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me both before and after my baby was born. I suffered with backache, headache, was so run down and weak. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the newspapers and decided to try it. Now I feel fine, take care of my two boys and do my own work."

I recommend your medicine to anyone who is ailing. You may publish my testimonial if you think it will help others."—Mrs. CARRIE WILLIAMS, Overpeck, Ohio.
For more than forty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been restoring women to health who suffered from irregularities, displacements, backaches, headaches, nervousness or "the blues." Today there is hardly a town or hamlet in the United States wherein some woman does not reside who has been made well by it. That is why Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is now recognized as the standard remedy for such ailments.
